

Call For Submissions: The ADH Lecture & Conversation Series 2020

CFP Deadline for Lecture Submissions:

1 October 2020 GMT 11:59pm, please submit to Mariza Galindo and Emmy Sale, Marketing and Communications at communications@dresshistorians.org

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS: LECTURES

The Association of Dress Historians would like to invite both established and emerging scholars studying or practicing within the fields of dress history and fashion studies at large to take part in our forthcoming Lecture Series. See the below criteria and send us your pitch!

Further Information:

- You must hold a current Association of Dress Historians membership. If you are not currently a member, our memberships are only £10 per year and available to purchase here: <https://dresshistorians.org/membership/>
- Lectures will be delivered in a 1-hour slot and include: introduction by our Marketing or Social Media Officer, the lecture (approx. 35 minutes), and Q&A.
- Speakers are required to devise and handle their own PowerPoint presentation during the live event. A meeting with our Communications team will be set in advance to verify that all is in place, if you require technical support, it will be addressed then.
- Please note we will not record the lectures. The lectures are intentionally designed as a onetime opportunity to interact with our audience live.

Submission Guidelines:

- Abstract (100-200 word max.) outlining the topic of your lecture.
- Biography (100-200 word max.).
- 1-3 high quality images that reflect the essence of your lecture; one of these images should be of you. The images will be used for marketing purposes, so please include detailed captions where applicable.
- Please see the below timeline and provide availability for dates and time.
